P58. TEXTILE ARCHITECTURE

RONAN AND ERWAN BOUROULLEC HAVE DESIGNED THE NEW KVADRAT SHOWROOM IN COPENHAGEN. A PLACE OF TOTAL FLEXIBILITY, THANKS TO AN INGENUOUS SYSTEM OF MOBILE FABRIC PANELS

A building with a clear industrial character at the port contains the new flagship store of the Danish textiles brand, as the outcome of a long period of collaboration with les frères du design, who explain: "The architecture has a very strong image, with a heavy concrete skeleton, ample views of the water, openings that make light a dominant feature and transmit changing atmospheric sensations to the inside. So from the outset transparency was the key to the project." Extruded glass walls border the office zone while setting off an open-plan area; the result is an airy, neutral container (white walls, gray concrete floors) that is more like an art gallery than a showroom. The Bouroullecs know how to combine functional quality, technical invention and theatrical impact, seen in the system of flexible spatial dividers based on vertical elements and a grid of extruded aluminium on the ceiling, making it possible to hang the mobile fabric panels. "The concept we have developed focuses on material substance. The showroom offers total flexibility to create settings with large surfaces of fabric and carpet. This triggers vivid impressions of weave, weight, transparency, the quality of every fabric." The product, in the moment of its display, becomes architecture. Katrin Cosseta

P60. ITALIAN DESIGN CONQUERS HONG KONG

WITH THE PAVILION ITALY MAKES A DIFFERENCE DESIGNED BY DARIO CURATOLO, ITALY BECAME THE PARTNER COUNTRY OF BODW 2017 (4-9 DECEMBER, HONG KONG DESIGN CENTRE), ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ASIAN EVENTS ON DESIGN AND INNOVATION

A successful conclusion for the 2017 edition of Business of Design Week (BODW, 4-9 December, Hong Kong Design Centre), since 2002 one of the leading Asian events on design and innovation. The happening in Hong Kong involved some of the most influential masters of the world of design, but also leading companies and outstanding entrepreneurs, ready to address an international audience of over 120,000 persons on the merits and importance of good design. In a variegated program of conferences, BODW 2017 presented the thoughts of over 70 creative talents: from architects responsible for iconic contemporary masterpieces to designers who have created very innovative products. Personalities from 16 different countries took part in a total of 12 sessions of talks, covering a wide range of themes. The partner country at this edition of BODW was Italy, which – besides being represented by guests like Massimiliano and Doriana Fuksas, Michele De Lucchi, Alberto and Francesco Meda, Mario Cucinella and Oscar Farinetti – was on hand with a special pavilion: Italy Makes a Difference, designed by Dario Curatolo, set up by ICE/ITA – Ministry of Economic Development, in partnership with ADI (Associazione per il Disegno Industriale), Salone del Mobile Milano, Triennale Design Museum, Ceramics of Italy and CNAPPC (the National Council of Architects, Planners, Landscape Designers and Conservators). "To make this pavilion," Dario Curatolo said, "I was inspired by the idea of the sea. Amidst the waves, a series of objects found their placement, with different forms, functions and proportions. They are products that respond to different needs, and their value comes precisely from these differences, from their variety of stories and backgrounds." In the vast program of panel discussions during BODW 2017, the magazine Interni was invited to explain its evolution from a magazine to a total system of communication, making it become a promoter of events (the FuoriSalone of Milan since 1990, exhibitions in the city since 1998) capable of illustrating the paths of design in an open, democratic context. A.P.
